Time it was,
And what a time it was,
It was . . .
A time of innocence,
A time of confidences.
Long ago . . . it must be . . .
I have a photograph.
Preserve your memories:
They're all that's left you.

OUR FOUNDER
REV. DOM JOHN HUGH DIMAN, O.S.B.

Rev. John Hugh Diman had a dream and that was to provide vocational education in Fall River. In August 1912, he attended a Fall River school committee meeting where he offered to equip and supply vocational instruction for one year with a personal donation of $2,500. One room was supplied by the school committee at the McDonough School. For three years, Father Diman supervised the program and visited the class weekly.

The first separate building for vocational education did not come about until 1915, with the use of the Kennedy Building on Bank Street across from the Armory. The Fall River school committee voted to name the school after its benefactor, Father Diman.

Dedication

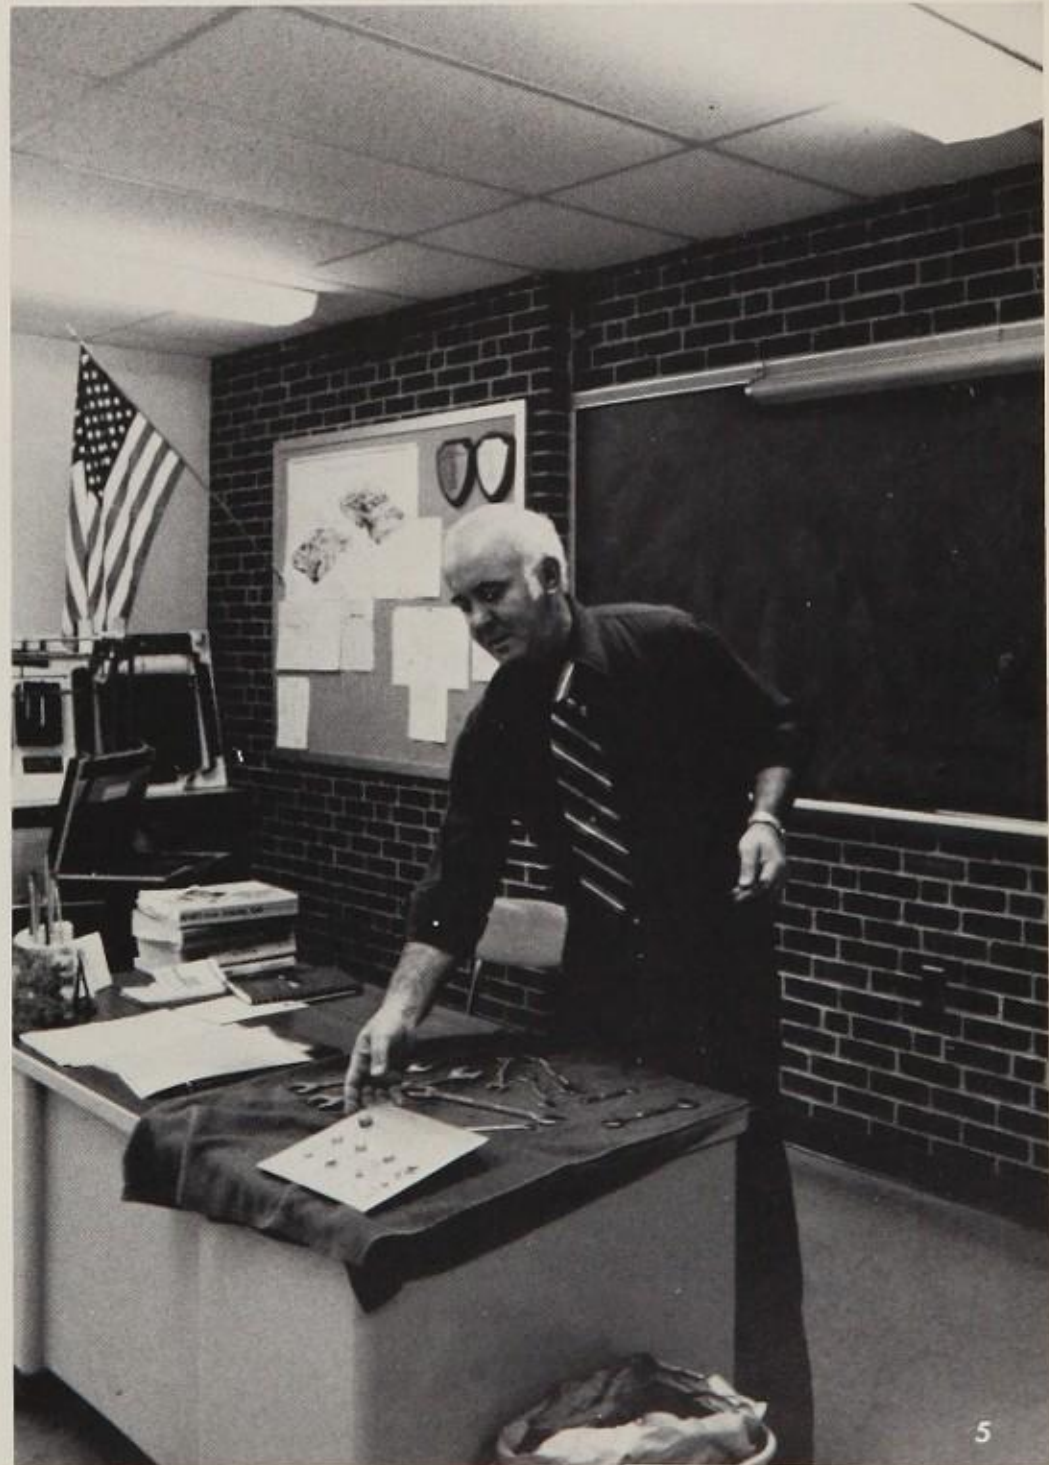

MR. GEORGE PICKERING
Auto Body Related Instructor

"He that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened. For only by patience, practice and ceaseless pursuit can a man enter the door of knowledge."

James Allen

Traditionally, the yearbook is dedicated to a teacher whom the student body admires and respects. This year the dedicatee also possesses the qualities illustrated in the above quote.

Therefore we, the class of 1976, proudly dedicate our yearbook to Mr. George Pickering.

JOHN P. HARRINGTON B.S., M.Ed.
Superintendent Director

Superintendent Director's Message

The administration and the faculty join with me in extending congratulations and best wishes to the members of the graduating class. You have reached a milestone in the successful completion of your secondary education, and you will now begin a new phase in your life.

Some of you will enter industry; some of you will seek a career in the armed services; and some of you will continue your education. Whatever your field of endeavor, remember that you bring to it a sound background in academic and vocational training which are tangible assets and which can serve as a basis for your future life's work.

During your years at Diman, we have watched you grow into young manhood - happy in the part we have played in your development and hopeful that we have instilled in you high ideals and a deep sense of moral values.

As you leave us on Graduation Day, you will join an ever-growing number of alumni of whom we are justifiably proud. Their performance has been a credit to the school and to themselves. We ask that, wherever you go and whatever you do, you not only emulate their performance, but also improve their image, thus making the road easier for future Diman alumni who will follow you.

Remember that learning is a continuous and never-ending process; that you get out of life only what you put into it; that there is a great need now and always for men who are honest, who are truthful, who respect the rights and property of others, and who give of themselves without wondering what is in it for themselves; and that success comes only from hard work.

May each and every one of you enjoy a long and happy life.
